FOREIGN VOLUNTEERS FOR SPAIN

France Welcomes British Proposals

CONTROL SYSTEM NECESSARY

Paris, January 18. The text of the French reply note to the British proposals regarding the question of foreign volunteers in the Spanish civil conflict has now been published by the Foreign Ministry here.

The note, after welcoming the British proposals, draws attention to the passage in the bill empowering the French Government to take measures to prohibit the recruiting and departure of volunteers to Spain, and assures the British Government that the French Government will gladly take all measures to enforce this prohibition, provided that the other powers concerned assume the obligation to enforce similar measures at the same time.

The note agrees with the British proposals, that measures be taken immediately, without waiting for the establishment of a complicated control system, but states that such measures will only have "provisional character," since previous experience has shown that no measures are fully effective without a control system.

The French Government therefore reserves itself the right to reconsider its position, if an effective agreement concerning a control system cannot be reached within reasonable time after the prohibition of recruiting volunteers and their departure for Spain has been enforced.

FIRE RAVAGE IN MELBOURNE

Refrigeration Stores Destroyed

Melbourne, Jan. 18. One of the most disastrous fires in Melbourne ever experienced gutted the Government refrigeration stores at Victoria dock.

The damage is estimated at £500,000. Thousands of tons of butter and frozen meat were destroyed in the flames which threatened four steamers, including a British vessel, Port Wellington, of the Commonwealth Dominion Line, which was towed into midstream where the fire abated was extinguished.—Reuter.

HONG KONG CABARETS

Popular Acts At Hotels

Judging by the enthusiasm of the large assemblages at both the Hong Kong and Gloucester Hotels during the week-end, it is obvious that good cabaret acts are genuinely appreciated.

Vera Love and her Festive Follies, who are in their final week after enjoying a splendid season at the Hong Kong Hotel, has provided something that will linger long in the memories of the hundreds who frequent the Grips and the Roof Garden. Her "Honolulu Moon" number is worthy of the Follies Bergere for brilliance and bareness. Artistically and anatomically, Vera and her girls gave a brilliant display.

This particular act at the Saturday and Sunday performances was heartily cheered.

KOWLOON-CANTON RAILWAY DISASTER

70 KILLED: 35 INJURED

Unknown Chinese And Packages Of Celluloid Bangles

Public Enquiry To Be Held In Near Future

SMELL OF BURNING RUBBER FIRST INTIMATION OF FIRE

An unknown Chinese, of whom no trace has yet been found, may perhaps be able to solve the mystery of the origin of the fire which broke out with disastrous results aboard the Kowloon-Canton Railway express on Saturday afternoon.

In a statement which he gave to the local Press in his office yesterday afternoon, Major R. D. Walker, M.C., Manager and Chief Engineer of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, stated that it had been discovered that two packages, said to contain sundries, was sent from Kowloon to Sunchun on an ordinary train at 10.16 a.m. on Saturday. These were sent on a way-bill and ordinary freight was paid.

It has been definitely ascertained that these two packages were presented by a Chinese for examination by the Chinese Maritime Customs at Sunchun Station, the man declaring them to contain celluloid bangles. The duty receipt which was issued by the Customs authorities in Sunchun is in the hands of the railway officials. The packages contained 320 dozen celluloid bangles to the value of $64, on which duty of $21.12 was paid, which were enclosed in rattan baskets.

From the information at hand it was learned that this unknown person himself took the packages on board, but he put one package in the second coach and the other in the third.

This fire took place on the train which left Kowloon at 12.45 p.m. and arrived at Shek Lung on time. The train left the station three minutes late due to taking water and the time it left Shek Lung was 3.03 p.m.

The composition of the train was in the following order:—Engine, water wagon, British Section coach No. 43, (third class) British Section coach No. 9, (third class)

Chinese Section coach No. 82 (third class) Chinese Section coach No. 87 (third class), Chinese Section coach No. 90 (third class), and British Section coach No. 22 (second class). The coaches which were burned were the second, third, and fourth in the order of march, i.e. No. 9, 82 and 87. The engine and the engine-crew belonged to the British Section.

WHERE FIRE COMMENCED

This express passed Shek Liu Kau (58.47 kilometres from Canton) at 3.11 p.m., where a green flag was exhibited to it by the station guard. The fire commenced near this halt when a fireman looked round and saw the coaches in flames, the driver stopping his train within half a kilometre at kilometre 58. Before he stopped one of the firemen jumped off the engine and he was already by the burning coaches before the train came to a standstill. He ran to the rear of coach No. 87 and cut the train from there and immediately went back to disconnect No. 43 which was full of passengers. The burning coaches were thus isolated from the rest of the train.

EXCITEMENT AT PRISON INSPECTION

Governor Scalded: A.D.C. Locked In Cell!

THE FIRST ALARMS AT STANLEY

The many residents who went out to the Stanley Peninsula yesterday on the occasion of the inspection, by His Excellency the Governor, of the new Hong Kong Prison, were provided with plenty of excitement. First of all, soon after the arrival of His Excellency, it was announced that Capt. W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C., who was inspecting one of the cells, had locked himself in and some minutes elapsed before Mr. S. C. Feltham, the Government architect, came to his rescue.

No sooner had Capt. Cragg been "released" than an alarm was given in another section of the gaol that another visitor had locked himself in. The "Daily Press" representative looked through the peephole on the door of the cell and saw that none other than Mr. G. P. de Martin, formerly Director of Education, was "imprisoned." Mr. de Martin, with his usual humour, fully enjoyed the situation, and walked up and down the cell, with hands folded behind his back, until Mr. Feltham arrived on the scene to let him out!

These, however, were not the only incidents connected with the inspection, for after the visitors had sat down to tea, Dr. G. Ingram Shaw was seen to approach His Excellency the Governor and after a few words were exchanged His Excellency, accompanied by Dr. Shaw and Mr. J. W. Franks, retired to a room adjoining the covered yard, and a few minutes later His Excellency returned with his right hand bandaged. Enquiries elicited the information that His Excellency scalded his hand when he lifted the lid of one of the his washing tubs and the steam shot up. His Excellency, however, made light of the incident and carried out the programme according to schedule.

Invitations had been sent out, but the place is so well laid out for the occasion and though it was stated that His Excellency would arrive at Stanley at 4 p.m., many had already arrived at the Prison long before that hour. When His Excellency arrived, he was met at the gate by Mr. J. W. Franks, Superintendent of Prisons, and he then inspected a guard-of-honour provided by the Prison Staff. His Excellency then chatted with some of the guests, in the spacious yard just in front of the Superintendent's office, after which he proceeded to inspect the premises.

The Prison, which was designed by Mr. S. C. Feltham of the Public Works Department, is one of the most up-to-date in the East and is divided into many blocks, each one housing a certain number of cells or the different workshops as it were. There is accommodation for about 1,600 prisoners at the Prison.

AVIATION

THIRTY-THREE YEARS OF FLYING

From A 12 H.P. Plane To A 3,000 H.P. Air-Liner

From their view-point to-day, with intense activity prevailing in all directions, and with long-distance air routes about to be adopted as a routine method of dispatch for mails at ordinary postal rates, those engaged in aviation will be pausing this month to send their congratulations to the man who was the first in the world to make a sustained, controlled flight in an engine-driven aeroplane.

It is just 33 years this month since Orville Wright rose from a launching rail and flew for 12 seconds, landing safely at the end of that brief, history-making aerial voyage without injury to himself or damage to his machine. As an epitome of just over three decades of aerial progress it is only necessary to contrast the first tiny plane of the Wright brothers with one of the new giant air-liners which Imperial Airways are now putting into service on their Empire routes.

The machine Orville and his brother Wilbur piloted in the world's first aeroplane flights on 17th December, 1903, was driven by an engine developing 12 horsepower. Its speed through the air was not more than 30 miles an hour. The new air-liners now coming into service on the Empire routes are driven by engines developing approximately 3,000 horse-power, and they are capable of a speed of just on 200 miles an hour.

The first Wright biplane, with its pilot, weighed a little under 1,000 lb. The new air-liners of Imperial Airways weigh, when fully-loaded, nearly 18 tons. The Wright biplane would lift into the air only one man, its pilot. The new Empire air-liners carry a normal 'pay-load,' including crew, of between 3½ to 4 tons.

As a final contrast to that tiny one-man plane with which aeroplane travel began thirty-three years ago there is the fact that the spacious interiors of our latest 'liners of the air' provide smoking-rooms, promenade lounges, fully-equipped kitchens, in addition to all their luxurious day accommodation, comfortable sleeping-berths for passengers at night.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION OF KARACHI AIR-PORT

An official inspection of the Karachi air-port was made recently by His Excellency the Governor. His Excellency, after visiting the offices in the mooring-tower, went on to the Observatory, where the meteorologists on duty were presented to him. His Excellency then made a complete inspection of the Customs, Postal, and Operating Companies' facilities.

Next the Governor carried out an inspection of the Imperial Airways westbound air-liner 'Horsa', after which he visited the aerodrome control-room and the north and south hangars.

His Excellency then went over by car to the airship shed, which he inspected, together with the workshop of Imperial Airways. Finally His Excellency viewed the big new hangar.

Air Transport And Mining Developments In Africa

With important mining developments in Africa co-inciding with a rapid progress in civil aviation, mining organisations throughout Africa are becoming increasingly alive to the assistance which aviation can render them in various directions. In all cases, for example, where air facilities exist, mining executives now encourage their officials to fly when making journeys in their company's service.

In territories such as the Rand, the Kakamega, the Lupat gold-fields, the Katanga copper belt, and the Belgian Congo mining areas, the advantages to be derived from air transport are becoming more appreciated every day.

Geologists and surveyors, when studying the potentialities of new mining areas, not only fly by the regular air services, but make an increasing use of special-charter aircraft to take them to territories not at present covered by established air routes.

Specimens of ore are dispatched by air in order that they may be assayed with the least possible delay. Executives and high officials use the air services when on visits of inspection to the mines. The existence of the Imperial Airways England-South Africa air-mail, with its two services weekly in each direction, proves an immense convenience when experts from the mines find it necessary to pay urgent visits to England for meetings or conferences. The air services are also proving of value in saving time when sections of mining machinery are urgently required.

The transport of gold by air, from mines in Africa to London, has shown an appreciable increase during recent times. Several weeks can be saved if bullion from mines in the interior of Africa is sent to London by air. Naturally, consignments have to pay for air speed, but this they are perfectly willing to do, remembering that the sooner gold is on the market the sooner it becomes interest-bearing.

NIGHT EQUIPMENT ON INDIA AIR ROUTE

4,000 Miles Inspection Flight

Recent inspections and reports have been focussed upon the progress of the night-flying equipment on the India air route. Lighting installations for regular night-flying have, it appears, now been practically completed at Allahabad, Gaya, Dum (Calcutta), Akyab, and Rangoon, although certain minor alterations and additions have still to be made; while lighting equipment has still to be completed at Cawnpore, together with beacon-lights at Etah, Moghal-Serai, and Asanol.

In order to be able to operate aerodrome lighting at short notice, new quarters are to be provided for operating staffs. Extensions of the wireless and meteorological arrangements are also in hand.

New hangars have been erected at Allahabad, Dum-Dum, and Akyab, and the next few months are expected to see considerable developments in aerodrome equipment. At Dum-Dum the new works include the erection of office buildings, the completion of quarters for the watch-keeping staff, and a considerable extension of the wireless and meteorological services.

Recently an official of the Civil Aviation Directorate of the Government of India made an air tour of approximately 4,000 miles to inspect the general development work in progress. During the course of this tour he inspected Magaladon aerodrome in Burma, and the new aerodrome site at Okkyn at Rangoon, and also discussed with various authorities the question of seaplane sites.

LATEST NOTES AND NEWS

The first aero show to be held in New York since 1930 is to be staged in the Grand Central Palace in January. Already many prospective exhibitors have reserved space. It is calculated that 250,000 people will attend the show.

It is confirmed that the sum allocated for improvements at the Mascot Aerodrome, Sydney, Australia, amounts to £74,000. This will be expended as follows: new aerodrome buildings, £40,000; landing-ground improvements, £30,000; night-lighting equipment, £4,000.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS PROSPECTS
A fresh issue of capital to carry out developments in connection with the Empire mail scheme and Atlantic services was foreshadowed in Sir Eric Geddes's survey of the activities of Imperial Airways recently. No details of the issue have yet been settled, Sir Eric explained, pending the settlement of final terms of the company's new agreement with the Government, but the matter would be the subject of consultation with the Treasury.

From the review of the achievements of the past year contained in Sir Eric's address, shareholders will gather an impression of rapid progress. The total volume of traffic, he showed, had doubled in the past three years, and capacity was being enlarged substantially to cater for growing demands on the company's varied services. The formation of a new operating company to develop a North Atlantic service appears to hold out a promise of intensive experiment in this important field in the near future.

Loch Ness monster as a news provider, but he has apparently been crowded out this winter. He has always been a big 10-tonner with ghostly headlights and has been credited with a weakness for dashing into the ditch and disappearing just when the spook investigator was about to drive straight into him. Well, we see many things sometimes—be careful this Hogmanay.

Thoughts of a phantom lorry always come back to me at this time of the year, because one night not far from Fyres I stood hard on the brake of my Triumph and came an awful cropper on the greasy pave because I thought I heard and saw a three-tonner right in front of me.

Unlike the London-Birmingham phantom, neither the lorry I thought I saw nor my own machine had lights of any kind. You are wrong, I was perfectly sober, but the point of my story is that the following night a despatch rider was killed by running into a genuine one. No one has been hurt by the English lorry, although I imagine some people have made money by telling a good story about it.

Anyway, I hope the traffic lights will not double themselves for you for the tramcars suddenly leave the rails and hit you good and hard. Be careful—remember you are driving.

THE PHANTOM LORRY
Returning to more New Yearish subjects, I have been disappointed over the failure of our old friend the phantom lorry to turn up on the London to Birmingham road this year. He ranks with the

BY AIR, RAIL, ROAD, AND SEA

Air transport, if its full value is to be enjoyed by the world at large, needs to co-operate actively with other forms of travel; and such co-operation is now the keynote of developments in which air-liners are working in close conjunction with transport by sea and land.

Combined air-and-sea passages can now be booked at the offices of airways or steamship companies. In all parts of the world ocean transport organisations are co-operating with Imperial Airways in air-and-sea facilities for the benefit of long-distance travellers. Complete round-the-world journeys can now be effected by a combination of air and surface transport.

Freight is being booked through on combined journeys by air, sea, and land. Railway companies are co-operating with air transport in express forms of parcel traffic in which urgent consignments are carried by fast passenger trains on all land sections of rail-and-air journeys.

Long-distance trips, during which tourists travel by air-liner, ocean-liner, river steamer and motor-car, are becoming increasingly popular. On a typical excursion of this kind passengers cross the Atlantic from New York by steamer. Then they continue by air to the big game country of Central Africa. Here they enjoy motor-car excursions through the game lands, returning to Cairo by one of the Nile steamers, and reaching America again by a further combination of air and ocean travel. By such combined air and ocean liners, and of trains, cars, and river craft, modern travellers enjoy a wonderful succession of thrills. They watch splendid panoramas from the decks of liners. They enjoy magnificent views of islands, sea, and coastal beauties from the saloons of big flying-boats. They look down on forests, deserts, and lakes from the windows of multi-engined land-planes. They penetrate the game-lands in motor-cars. They make trips in luxurious trains. And they travel stage by stage with a speed and comfort which robs long-distance touring of all its former tedium and fatigue.

MOTOR JOTTINGS

A YEAR OF PROGRESS IN CAR DESIGN

New Year Wishes And Warnings For Motorists

A Guild New Year to all my readers. May they never forget they are running on the reserve and find themselves stranded miles from the nearest garage. May the tyres retain their pressure for months on end and the pressure gauge always tell the truth. Long may the trends keep their pattern and not behave as they usually do wear out suddenly just when you are feeling particularly hard up, writes "Owner-Driver" in the "Bulletin."

Here's to the good old cylinders. Long may they remain circular and defy the attacks of the fiend ovality whose visit at the end of the second year's running is most unwelcome. And here's hoping that you will get the small petrol consumption you dream about that you are not gouged, that the coachwork will remain silent, more or less, that blotches will not bob up on the safety glass, that the sunshine roof will not leak and that you may be able to use it at least once next summer.

May the spanner never slip off the stubborn nut and cause you to leave skin on some metal part, may the rocker arm never stick, and may all the plugs have a sparkling good time. And that's all I can think of in the way of good wishes for the moment. If you get them all, you will be lucky. Here's hoping!

RETURNING TO SANITY

The outstanding feature of the past twelve months has been the return to sanity on the part of the coachbuilders, private and otherwise. The so-called streamlining freaks have just about gone and there are signs that the wearing of hats will be possible when sitting in the back seat. The problem of getting into and out of the car still remains. You know the sort of thing.

The lady passenger in the front seat turns herself into a contortionist to get her right hand back to the lock on her left, then up come her knees until they are almost touching her chin, the left leg (ladies have these nowadays, so I am not apologising) is generally assisted by both hands to pull it up farther, the fancy shoe scrawls along the face of the door pillar, then out shoots one long silk-clad limb, groping either for the running board or the street. It is all so acrobatic, so undignified, but ever so interesting. But not for the lady.

Really, it is time something was done about it, but as long as we prefer smart looks to utility we shall get tumble-home roofs and all that. And serve us right. And serve us right. But there is one thing we must praise. We really must thank those kind car manufacturers for giving us better brakes. I don't mean that the brakes of 1935 or 1937 will pull up the car in fewer yards than those of a few years ago. There is a definite minimum distance in which any car can be brought to rest from any speed, no matter whether the vehicle is light or heavy.

NO TEARS AND CURSES

Brake improvements have been due largely to more suitable metal being used for brake drums. Mild steel has been sacked and not before time. Now we are getting cast-iron alloys which are better in resisting wear, less prone to scoring and do not distort under pressure from the shoe. Drums themselves are larger and friction surfaces have been increased. The self-energising shoe is gaining in popularity. In this system one shoe is permitted a certain amount of travel so that when it touches the fast-moving drum it tends to travel round with it. In moving it pushes on the other shoe all the harder. This means that, for a given pedal pressure, there is a greater braking effect.

But whether the brakes are self-energising, mechanical, cable or rod operated, or actuated by hydraulic pressure and energised automatically, the fact remains that by increasing the area of the friction material, improving the methods of adjustment, and giving us better material in the drums our means of stopping are no longer a subject for tears and curses. I have had horrible dreams before now over brakes and brake drums. I have seen the inside of these circular dishes of metal presenting an appearance like the washerwoman's scrubbing board—for all the world like corrugated iron. Little wonder we had to adjust every 500 miles and renew the linings every 6000.

There has been one rather disappointing feature of the year that is just going. Efforts to keep the tyres on the road depend on the solving of the suspension problem and when a number of manufacturers adopted independent front-wheel springing many of us—myself included—sort of whooped with joy.

LAZINESS RESPONSIBLE?
But all is not well. It is almost impossible to get at the truth, but it appears to be a fact that a number of makers are having trouble with their independent suspension designs. Every one of these new layouts have of necessity a number of mechanical joints, and whether the laziness of the average owner is responsible for troubles that

AIR RAIDS IN LONDON

Appeal To Business People

HOME SECRETARY'S VIEWS

Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, emphasised the necessity for air raid precautions, at a luncheon last month of the Special (Air Raids Precautions) Committee of the Corporation of the City of London.

He referred to the need for co-operative and active initiative of local authorities, and said that there was no part of the country where this was more needed than in the City—the centre, the hub and focus of the whole British Empire. An attack upon the City, if that evil ever came, by hostile air forces, would obviously be of world-wide importance and significance.

He appealed to business people in the City of London to co-operate in schemes which might be found to be wise and necessary after full consultation with the authorities, and a full analysis of the needs. He hoped that where business people had their headquarters in London and branches elsewhere, they would undertake co-operation in such a way as to enable the plans to be carried out in their provincial branches no less than in the City itself. He welcomed the demonstration of a gas-proof room in the City, as it enabled the public to see what could be done.

EFFICIENCY OF GAS MASKS
Urging the necessity for co-operation between local authorities, Sir John said he was conscious that in many respects the City of London was an island, but from the air an invader might not be acquainted with the boundaries of the City.

He paid tribute to Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd (Under Secretary for Home Affairs), saying that he was a young man who found out things for himself. "At the beginning of the anti-gas school work," he added, "Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd went into the lethal chamber furnished with one of the new Home Office gas masks, and was subjected to enough chlorine gas to kill a normal man in three minutes. He is a healthy and walking example of what can be done in this matter."

"Though we pray with all our hearts and declare our fervent hope that this abomination may never descend upon British soil," Sir John concluded, "nevertheless we shall show our determination to resist danger from whatever source it comes and vindicate the freedom of our country."

JOHN AMERY'S
£3,000 ON
ENTERTAINING

"You Have To Dress Your Window"

When John Amery, aged 24, son of Mr. L. S. Amery, a former First Lord of the Admiralty, was questioned by the Official Receiver (Mr. Bruce Simmons), at Windsor Bankruptcy Court last month, he spoke about expenses he had incurred in attempting to float a £100,000 film company.

He explained that he had spent about £3,000 in entertaining and travelling.

"It seems that you have been reckless and extravagant," commented the Official Receiver.

Amery replied, "In the film business you cannot ride on a tram or travel third class. You have to dress your window, and it gave me no pleasure to entertain on this scale knowing that the bills were running up."

Lost The Present

He added that if he could have hung on a bit longer, it would have been the turn of those he was entertaining to entertain him. It was necessary for him to visit Berlin, St. Moritz, Paris, Vienna, and Geneva in connection with the launching of the company.

He stated that he had made a number of presents of jewellery, and on one occasion he carried a diamond and platinum hoop ring to give to a girl engaged in films, but when he saw her, he had lost it.

STORM WARNINGS

Regulation Of Ordinary Meteorological Station Reports

LOCAL WARNINGS BY SYMBOLS

A proposal to modify to some extent the issue of storm warnings beyond the territory of a meteorological centre was one of the subjects of discussion by the delegates and representatives to the Regional Commission 11 of the International Meteorological Organisation which is being held in Hong Kong.

LARGER AREAS WORKED

The following was outlined by Mr. C. W. Jeffries, Director of the Royal Observatory, Hong Kong:

Every community looks towards its meteorological department for adequate warning of the approach of storms, and until recent years such warnings were distributed mainly by means of the electric telegraph. With the use of radio telegraphy meteorological reports and storm warnings may be rapidly and simultaneously communicated to all receiving apparatus over a very large area, including sea areas, thus giving ship masters information formerly unobtainable. In fact, the rapid development of radio telegraphy has produced a situation where any person in possession of the necessary meteorological knowledge and adequate receiving radio facilities may disregard storm warnings and make his own deductions from the synoptic information which he may obtain from the "air."

This course is adopted on many well found ships at the present time, and although broadcast synoptics may occasionally overlap considerably, this is a matter which organisation between the responsible states could speedily remedy. The duplication of station reports in several broadcasts is merely a repetition of the same facts, and although a waste of time, is not calculated to be harmful in any way.

ONE PERSON'S DEDUCTIONS

Storm warnings, however, may be broadcast from several centres, and being the result of one person's deductions from the facts available at each centre may not always agree. In a voyage from Singapore to Hong Kong, it is possible for a ship master to receive storm warnings from at least five centres. These warnings may be in agreement, in which case time is wasted in receiving them, while if there are any differences, the receiver is likely to experience some confusion, especially if not in agreement with his own conclusions.

PROBLEM OF REGULATION

The problem of the regulation of storm warnings is more difficult than the regulation of ordinary meteorological station reports, but it is admitted that the station to which a storm centre is nearest, should have the best means of its local observations, several difficulties disappear. On this principle it is suggested that while all centres should be at liberty to broadcast, at definite times, their general inferences, the issue of storm warning beyond the territory of a meteorological centre, should be to some extent modified. As a basis for discussion it is suggested that Manila should broadcast positions eastward from Longitude 120°E to 110°E and southward from Latitude 25°N, Indo-China westward from 112°E and southward from 25°N, Shanghai eastward from 120°E and northward from 24°N.

These suggestions are not meant to imply any restriction upon the activities of any observatory in films, and after floating six companies, he attempted to float one with a capital of £10,000, and in 1934 he decided to float a new one which would have needed £100,000.

The majority of the companies, he said, were moribund, he added.

In answer to the Official Receiver, Amery said that he did not consider that he was "a heaven-born film producer," but he had made two films. In 1931 he made "Jungle Skies," and a few months later "It's a Lion." The first was never finished, and he did not know whether the second was publicly shown, because the company was wound up. He lost all his money in these films. In conjunction with other people, he had also produced films, and these were shown at leading cinemas.

In 1933 he married, and his wife had an income of her own. His father had advanced him £300. Liabilities were shown at £5,081 and assets nil.

Feeling "Run Down?"

Just suppose that right now you were talking to a physician.

YOU would have to confess to him that somehow you seem to tire very quickly nowadays; that your energy is gone and that now and then you feel jumpy and irritated.

"My dear man!" he would no doubt say, "look at the symptoms logically. Yours is a clear case of strained nerves. We need not go into how you got that way. The climate, hard and nervous work, late nights, they can all be to blame—but you want to know how to become your old self again. Why not start taking Sanatogen—it's really great stuff! It's made just for people like you, and I know from long experience that it will do you a lot of good. You have asked too much from your nerves, and with Sanatogen you replace the lost energy quickly."

Over 25,000 physicians are of the opinion that taking Sanatogen is the easy and logical way back to real health and vitality. Why not give Sanatogen a trial? Every chemist sells it. Start taking it now, then you will soon notice its remarkable influence on your health and vitality.

LORD NUFFIELD

On Motoring Laws

"For the third successive season we of the Morris group are experiencing record business, and all our factories are working at full pressure," stated Lord Nuffield last month.

"This means more new cars on the road, more new motorists, and more than ever it emphasises the need for a new understanding of road problems."

"During the past 18 months harsh penalties have been inflicted on the motoring community with added energy, and there has been a great tightening up of regulations. The result has been exactly what the motor industry expected. There has been no appreciable reduction in accident statistics. This proves the ineffectiveness of the experiment to which we have been subjected."

FAR-REACHING EFFECTS

"I am convinced that a new understanding of the problem would have far-reaching effects. A man is now a criminal just because he drives a motor car. The motoring community is the taxpayer's backbone of the British nation, and is composed of law-abiding citizens who in every other sphere of life are respected."

"Accept this incontrovertible fact and it will then be easy to focus attention on the real root of the matter, which is obsolete road design and the marked absence of official activity in educating other road users in road sense."

"It has been left to the initiative of the motor industry to adopt the only really practical measures which can be effective under the present system, and motor traders are among the leaders in the safety-first movements throughout the country."

"OLD HUTCH"

"Old Hutch" which comes to the screen of the King's Theatre to-day is the story of the man who is known in every town in America.

There is more than mere wealth of humour in this new character who comes in the person of Wallace Beery. He is the essence of rich, good humour, but beyond that he symbolizes the easy tolerance of America, the quiet acceptance of fate and in the last analysis, the fiery individual who, when driven to fight, does it with his whole soul, his strong body and two good fists.

Most people will recall the story of "Old Hutch" which was written by Garret Smith and appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. It is the account of a "no account" in the eyes of harsh critics, but a lovable man nevertheless. He is the laziest man in town and fishing is at once his business, his pleasure and his hobby.

Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, who appeared with Beery in Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness!" provide the romantic touch in the new picture and do it with excellent taste. The supporting cast includes Robert McWade, Elizabeth Patterson, Caroline Perkins, Julie Perkins, Delmar Watson, Harry Watson, James Burke, Donald Meek and Jean Chabourn.

—F. M. G.

"HEART'S DESIRE"

Richard Tauber sings his way to a new success in "Heart's Desire," which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

Here is another British picture that really deserves all of the nice things that have been said about it in America. It has drama, tragedy and comedy, all thrown into a delightful whole.

The picture is based on a story that fits in well with Maestro Tauber's voice. The voice is brought to the attention of a smart girl touring Europe in search of a voice for the Grand Opera of London. She searches in vain and is on the point of going back home when she hears Tauber.

Life is lovely and grand. Tauber sings his way into a big London success. The world laughs, smiles. Glory is his but the girl becomes engaged to another man before the last aria is sung. Tauber throws a fit and won't sing. He changes his mind. He sings. The girl marries the other man and Tauber goes back home to the little Viennese cafe, taking another woman with him. "I like it here," says Tauber and he stays. A great voice is lost to the world. London sobs and Tauber sings.

If you like the voice of Richard Tauber, "Heart's Desire" is a good picture and you should see it.

If a famous bishop is right that the world cannot find anything better than Christianity, it might be a good idea to try it.

"The saving spirit is steadily increasing in the solid body of the country,"—Lord Mersey.

"MOHICANS"

Randolph Scott, Binnie Barnes and Henry Wilcoxon head one of the greatest casts of stars ever assembled on the screen in "The Last of the Mohicans." Reliance Pictures' film version of the immortal James Fenimore Cooper classic, which is at the Majestic Theatre to-day.

Also featured in important roles in this unforgettable story of glorious adventure, heart-stirring romance and thundering conflict for a nation yet unborn are Bruce Cabot, Heather Angel, Philip Reed, Robert Barrat, Hugh Buckler and Willard Robertson.

Scott is seen as Hawkeye, the brave and handsome Colonial scout hero, beloved by the millions of readers of the book. Miss Barnes is cast as the glamorous Alice Munro, who is torn between love for him and loyalty to the gallant Major Duncan. Hayward, played by Wilcoxon, Cabot has the role of Magua, the renegade Indian spy; Miss Angel is seen as the lovely Cora Munro and Reed plays Uncas, the young Indian brave who hopelessly worships her.

Breath-taking highlights of the picture are the defense of Fort William Henry against the onslaught of the French legions; Cora's death leap from the heights of Lovers' Cliff; the thrilling rescue of Hawkeye from the torture stake of the savage Hurons; the barbaric war dance of the Indian tribes; and last but not least, the hand-to-hand tomahawk battle to the death between the renegade half-breed and "The Last of the Mohicans."

The picture was produced by Edward Small and directed by George B. Seitz. Philip Dunne prepared the screen play from an adaptation by John Balderston, Paul Perez and Daniel Moore. The film is presented by Harry M. Goetz and released through United Artists.

LADY HOUSTON

With Lucy Lad, Houston Britain loses one of the most picturesque figures of its national life. Her excursions into every sort of public activity from journalism and politics to exploration were always unexpected and entertaining to the onlooker, even if they were seldom very fruitful. Under her direction one of the staidest of weekly reviews took on qualities which must have startled any readers who had remained faithful to it since the days of its greatness. Perhaps nothing quite like her activity, backed by the millions inherited from her husband, is likely to be seen again. And perhaps that is just as well. Yet some of the peculiar colour that belonged especially to the life of the 1920's will be lost with her for ever.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS

Carnal Knowledge Charge Heard By Jury

CUSTOMS PASS ROBBERY: MEN SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEARS

Chau Wah, 45, earth cooler, who pleaded guilty to robbing Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Peacock at Customs Pass, Kowloon, last September, was sentenced to seven years with hard labour by the Chief Justice, Sir Athol MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, informed his Lordship that defendant gave no assistance in recovering the stolen articles, and that none of the property had been recovered.

The Chief Justice remarked that it was an extremely bad case in which the wanton use of fire works might have proved fatal if Mr. Peacock had not had a metal cigarette case in his pocket at the time.

ANOTHER ROBBERY

For robbing two women of money and jewellery at 51, Tung Choi Street on December 18, three men, Cheung Sin, 34, Hui Sau-ping, 43, and Chan Ming, 23, were also arraigned before the Chief Justice yesterday.

Mr. Williams said that Chan Ming had had a previous conviction. Half of the property had been recovered through the information given by Cheung Sin.

Cheung Sin and Hui Sau-ping both received prison sentences of 18 months with hard labour, and Chan Ming was sentenced to two years with hard labour.

not wish to say anything at present, but I will speak later in Court.

The girl's mother, Tam Shuen-ma, gave evidence, after which the girl herself stated that she had been detained against her will by defendant.

Chinese detective, Sgt. Wong Cheuk and Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham gave corroborative evidence that they had raided 174, Woosung Road, Ground floor, and of the statement that defendant gave at the Kowloon police station.

Li Loi and Leung Ng, also residing at the same premises as the defendant, testified that the girl could have left whenever she wished.

Defendant stated that the girl consented to live with him, and reiterated that she was at liberty to come and go as she pleased.

His Lordship then sentenced defendant to 18 months imprisonment with hard labour for having carnal knowledge of the girl, and dismissed the charge of harbouring.

MONEY DEMANDED WITH MENACES

Heavy Fine Imposed On Two Men

Appearing on remand before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Police Court yesterday, Yu Cheung-hong, 44, and Chong Fat-hun, 26, both unemployed, were found guilty of the charge of demanding money with menaces from Sha Kwok-pui, dentist, on January 14. His Worship said that in view of the fact that both defendants had a clear record, they would be given the option of a fine.

A fine of $300 with the alternative of three months' hard labour was imposed on each defendant.

DANCE-HALL HOSTESS ASSAULTED

For maliciously wounding Miss Ada Chan, a dance-hall hostess of the Majestic Cabaret of 32 Hillwood Road, ground floor, the Misses Alice, Helena and Alberta Pedruco, also from the same cabaret, were brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

Mr. M. A. da Silva was present for the complainant while Mr. E. D. Evans appeared for the defendants.

The case was remanded till Friday, January 22, at 2.30 p.m.

COWARDLY OFFENCE AT SHATIN

Man Beaten: Then Robbed

SESSIONS SEQUEL

In the Second Court of the Criminal Sessions yesterday, Mr. Justice Hayden passed sentence of two years' hard labour on Cheung Tin Loi who pleaded guilty to a charge that on November 8, last, together with three others not in custody at U Kwal Sha Village, Shatin, they robbed Wan Mao of $177.

Mr. J. P. Murphy, (Assistant Crown Solicitor): There is no record against this man. I understand the police do not regard this as a very serious case except that it took place in an outlying village and they took advantage of that fact. The accused and the others who were with him informed the people that they were policemen. The accused admitted assaulting the complainant who was in hospital for ten days recovering from the assault.

His Lordship raised the question of inflicting corporal punishment.

Mr. M. J. Abbott, acting Crown Solicitor, said that since he had been in Hong Kong, his Lordship had awarded corporal punishment in a case of wounding with intent.

His Lordship: It has not been the practice to award corporal punishment; formerly it was.

Mr. Abbott: That is so, my Lord.

Addressing the prisoner, His Lordship, in passing sentence, said that he should have awarded a much heavier sentence than two years had it not been for the fact that it was his first offence and the police did not regard the case as serious.

"Notwithstanding," added his Lordship, "you are guilty of a very cowardly offence for apparently the four of you went into the complainant's house and beat him up and took part in the robbery."

BANISHEES SENTENCED

In the same Court, Mr. Justice Hayden sentenced three returned banishees, Chan Pui, Chan Sing and Wan Kam Chuen, to two years' hard labour each for a breach of the Deportation Ordinance. Chan Sing had 15 previous convictions. Wan Kam Chuen had ten.

His Lordship commented that as Chan Sing had made a statement to the effect that he was born in Kowloon he directed that the police make enquiries into the matter.

Li Pun, 29, unemployed of no fixed abode was brought before Mr. J. A. Fraser at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning for returning from banishment.

It was stated that the defendant was arrested once before on a similar charge.

Sentence of a year's hard labour was imposed.

REMAND GRANTED

For attempting to break in at 222, Queen's Road, Ip Yan, 31, unemployed, was brought before Mr. Kenneth Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning.

Inspector A. Kirby, who prosecuted, asked for 48 hours remand which was granted.

GARDNER SENTENCED

Mitigation Plea By Counsel At The Sessions

NO ATTEMPT AT RESTITUTION

Deliberate Scheme To Defraud Firm And Government

Joseph Charles Gardner, aged 49, was sentenced to 15 months' imprisonment with hard labour by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, at the Criminal Sessions yesterday when he pleaded guilty to six charges of fraudulent conversion of sums of money entrusted to him by his employers, the Union Insurance Society of Canton Ltd., for the purpose of purchasing revenue duty stamps and affixing used stamps.

It will be recalled that at the December Sessions Gardner appeared on similar charges but was acquitted by the jury on a plea of autofs convicted made by Mr. Leo D'Almada, jun., who appeared on his behalf.

Yesterday, Mr. D'Almada addressed the Court in mitigation of sentence. "His conviction finishes him," said Counsel. "This is a plea that I have unfortunately had to raise on a former occasion, that a conviction and sentence on a European in the East, where our numbers are comparatively small, makes regeneration very difficult and a considerably heavier handicap than if he were in Europe."

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, for the Crown, stated that the sum involved was $2,000 and Gardner had made no attempt at restitution.

Gardner was charged with (1) fraudulent conversion of the sum of $20.80 on January 5, 1935; (2) fraudulent fixing of two stamps to the face value of $23 on January 5, 1935; (3) fraudulent conversion of $83 on April 1, 1935; (4) fraudulent fixing of six stamps to the face value of $28 on April 1, 1935; (5) fraudulent conversion of $44.60 on November 23, 1935; and (6) fraudulent fixing of five stamps to the face value of $32.25 on November 23, 1935.

These sums of money were given to him by his employers, the Union Insurance Society of Canton, for the purpose of revenue stamps.

FAMILY TO SUPPORT

"The facts of this case and leading up to the offences committed are these," commenced Mr. D'Almada in his plea in mitigation of punishment. "The defendant is 49 years old and has been in the employ of the Union Insurance Society for 28 years from 1905 to 1910 and then again from 1913 to 1936. His salary when he resigned was $370 a month from which certain deductions were made for the provident fund leaving him a net sum of $350. It was necessary on this sum to support a family of 13 children. 11 girls and two boys, only one of which, a daughter, had recently been married and the eldest boy is only 16. None of them is employed and to augment his income it was the defendant's practice to give lessons in shorthand and book-keeping but in spite of this he found himself in financial difficulty some three years ago owing to the serious and prolonged illness of one of his daughters which culminated in a very grave operation, the whole of which naturally resulted in heavy expenditure."

"A point I should like to make in my favour is that the fruit of his misdeeds did not go in reckless squandering but to fulfil the dire necessity which arose through these unfortunate onuses."

MAKES CLEAN BREAST

"In July, 1934, he resigned from his employment, left for Japan then sent a letter which I think Your Lordship will agree, goes to his credit. In it he makes a clean breast of things and is especially careful to exonerate his superior from any responsibility in the matter. His superior testified in the Police Court to his record in the employ of the Company until these unfortunate lapses. He stayed some little time in Japan and, my instructions are, he eventually resolved to return to Hong Kong and to give himself up. He travelled under his own name—there was no attempt for concealment—but on arrival, he found that the sweetness of liberty was something which he felt somewhat difficult in renouncing and none could blame him in the circumstances in that he was arrested on the very same night of his arrival."

"That was on November 23 last and he has been in police custody ever since. He was up before Your Lordship at the last Criminal Sessions charged with offences similar to these and was acquitted on a plea of autofs convicted."

He left this Court, on that occasion a free man only to be bitterly disappointed on being re-arrested immediately on leaving the precincts of this building—an indication, perhaps of the Crown's own disappointment in not having got their man.

"Their motive may, perhaps, be of no importance to this case but I only mention it in the hope that Your Lordship will give a little weight—and little weight only—in passing sentence, because here was a man once free and once again faced with the shame and degradation of a fresh trial."

His Lordship: Surely he was re-arrested on specific charges to which he was pleaded guilty?

SENSE OF PUBLIC DUTY

Mr. D'Almada: That is so, but I do suggest that Your Lordship should take this into consideration. So much for the facts of this particular case. It goes to his favour that accused has shown a sense of public duty at one time. During the war he was in the local Police Reserve from three months of its inception until that force was disbanded and, in the General Strike of 1925, he rendered signal service to the Government Civil Hospital for which he received two letters of acknowledgment from the authorities. (These letters were handed up to the Chief Justice). There is only one other aspect of this case to be stressed and that is, that a conviction finished him. The conviction and sentence of a European in the East where our numbers are comparatively small, makes regeneration extremely difficult and a heavier handicap than it would be in Europe.

SUFFERING CONTINUES

"I submit that though this plea has been repeated by me at a former hearing, it is none the less effective and should be taken into consideration. Your Lordship may have considered it in a former case in which a man, charged with the fraudulent conversion of $14,000, was sentenced by Your Lordship to four months. The facts may be different, but I do say this, that if that fact weighed in that case it must likewise weigh in this case. Particularly in a case of this kind one's punishment and one's suffering only begin with sentence. It continues for ever afterwards and, in the whole circumstances of this case, I think Your Lordship would be satisfied that justice would be met by the lightest of sentences. If your Lordship could be so good as to do this, might I suggest that the sentence date from the date of the arrest."

His Lordship asked for the total amount involved in the case, and was informed by Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, who prosecuted, that it approximated $2,000.

Mr. Williams added that when accused resigned he received over $10,000 as his share of the provident fund and had previously received another amount.

His Lordship: That is more than sufficient to re-imburse his employers.

RESTITUTION

His Lordship (to Mr. D'Almada): One point which I am not quite clear is that I understood you to say that it was in accused's favour that he, at once wrote a letter making a clean breast of the matter. There is a reference in a letter from the Shanghai Secretariat Office claiming a refund of $150 on one of these documents to which stamps had been fraudulently affixed. Would not the whole matter have come to light automatically?

Mr. D'Almada: Yes, but the only point is that he had the agency to write, after he had got away, and exonerated his superior in this matter.

His Lordship: Do you want to say anything about restitution?

Mr. D'Almada: Could I have a word with defendant on this point?

His Lordship: Certainly.

SUMMONS FOR ASSAULT

Japanese Youths Bound Over

Two Japanese youths, Seiji Satoh and Kunihiko Satoh, appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a summons for assaulting Chau Hoi-hit, a school teacher of Canton.

At the previous hearing Chau said that he was taken ill at Canton and was admitted into the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital here on December 27.

It was on the same night about 9 p.m., he was outdoors for some fresh air when he heard some cries coming from beyond the wall.

Upon investigation, he discovered two Japanese assaulting a rickshaw coolie. He asked them to stop it and their reply was, "What are you looking at?" in Chinese.

Chau took no more notice of them, and proceeded walking. Suddenly, the defendants chased him, and one of them struck him on the back with the fist.

The complainant was examined by Dr. Phoon of the Tung Wah Hospital, and there were bruises found on the left thigh and leg and also on his chest and back.

Miss Chan Chung-po, matron of the Tung Wah Hospital and Yin Chan-pu, dresser, gave corroborative evidence.

It was stated at yesterday's hearing that the two defendants had an argument with a rickshaw coolie. The complainant intervened and got the worse of it.

There were six others with the complainant and the two defendants stated that Chau swore at them in Chinese.

The boys' father testified that he did not see the fight but heard a commotion.

BURNS' DINNER

In view of the numbers attending the Burns' Dinner at the Peninsula Hotel on Monday, January 25, 1937, the General Committee of the Society regret that no more names can be accepted for attendance at this function.

After a few minutes' consultation with his client, Mr. D'Almada said: This matter I have already raised with defendant. He tells me now that he is pretty certain restitution of half the amount would be made but not the whole amount.

His Lordship: It is not from that point of view I am approaching, as it is outside judicial consideration. It would have been material if there had been immediate restitution or an attempt had even been made.

Mr. D'Almada: No attempt was then made.

JUDGE'S REMARKS

Addressing Gardner, His Lordship said: "I have listened with attention to everything that your Counsel has said in your behalf and I need not tell you that I will give due weight—consistent with my duty—to every one of his pleadings. At the same time I cannot overlook the fact that you were a trusted employee in an honourable position in the firm which you had served so long, and you deliberately, over a period of 17 months, embarked on a systematic scheme of defrauding them and the Government of this Colony. This scheme you were able to carry out only because you were in a position of trust, dealing with honourable men who expected from you the same scrupulous and fair dealing that they would extend to you and to others."

"It is true that you wrote to your employers after your resignation but the weight that I can attach to that letter is, to my mind, largely discounted by the fact that your frauds would inevitably have been found out as soon as action was taken on the secretarial letter referred to, and I cannot overlook the fact that when you realised that the game was up, you immediately tendered your resignation, received a considerable sum from your employers as your Provident Fund contribution, and although you were then in a position to make full restitution, you made no attempt to do so until today—an offer which I can only regard and stigmatise as a rickshaw coolie offer, an offer to pay a half is made, presumably as an attempt to bargain on your part."

"I should be completely lacking in my duty if I did not impose a severe sentence on you in a case such as this. You will go to prison with hard labour for 15 months from to-day on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently."

OPIMUM SEIZURE ON SAMPAN

Further Evidence Recorded

Charged with the possession of 1,150 taels of non-Government prepared opium, valued at $9,200, and dumping the opium into the sea in order to avoid seizure by the police, Chan Sze-mul, master of a sampan, and two foks, Lai Tai-hoe and Tang Tai, appeared on remand before Mr. E. Himmworth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

In the witness box, first defendant denied that his name was Chan Sze-mul, and that he was not the owner of the craft.

Appearing on behalf of the first defendant, Mr. Hin Shing Lo, asked:—What were you on board that boat?—I was a fuk. Mr. Lo: Describe to his Worship how the two cases came into your possession.

Witness said that a coolie gave them to him while they were fishing. He was asked to carry them to Ngau Kiu, and to wait for him at the destination to receive the boxes. The coolie told him that it was not necessary for him to come on board as he had already noted the number of the sampan, and that the coolie told him that these two boxes contained miscellaneous goods. He did not know that they contained opium, and he only came to know of their contents when the boxes were opened at the police station.

According to Sgt. Haynes, the police shouted for you to stop, did you hear the shout?—Yes, when they were near.

Was your sampan in motion when you heard the shout?—Yes.

Slowed Down

In spite of the shout you were rowing hard trying to run away. No, I slowed down.

The Chinese detective, at the last hearing, told the Court that you and your two foks pushed one box overboard.—No.

One of the cases was in the water, can you explain how?—The motor boat collided into my craft and caused the case to fall overboard.

Mr. G. S. Hugh Jones who appeared for the foks, asked: Did either of the two foks take part in the discussion?—No.

Who was in charge in the absence of Chan Sze-mul?—I was.

Was there any appearance in any of the boxes that roused your suspicions?—No.

Inspector K. W. Andrew (who prosecuted) asked the first defendant:—

You said that your name is Kwok Yau?—Yes.

Why did you answer to the name of Chan Sze-mul at the first hearing?—I did it to shield the owner of the craft.

The hearing was adjourned to Thursday at 11.30 a.m.

Scotland On The Screen

The proposal that by 1938, the year of the Empire Exhibition in Glasgow, Scotland should possess a worthy place on the screen will be welcomed by all who realise the great potentialities of the film as a prop and agent of national prestige, and who have also the best interests of the country and of the Exhibition at heart.

In launching it in an address at Stirling recently, Mr. John Grierson struck the right note. He appealed to Scottish amour propre and business instincts. In the practical travelogue and documentary categories Scotland makes a poor showing compared with any of the Dominions, while in the romantic and historical—in "The Thirty-Nine Steps" and "Mary of Scotland," for example—her scenery has been ineffectually treated and her history and customs travestied.

There is just time before the dazzling palaces open in Bellahouston Park for this grave deficiency and inferiority to be wiped out. Beginning now, either through the agency of the Scottish Film Council, as Mr. Grierson suggested, or through the combined efforts of that Council, the Exhibition Committee, the Scottish Economic Development Council and cognate bodies, the interest of the big film companies and of specialised organisations such as the G.P.O. Film Unit may be aroused, co-operation secured, and the "shooting" of one or several major films and of a dozen or so short documentaries begun in the early spring of this year.

Prompt action, a financial guarantee, and imaginative and up-to-date direction are the needs of the moment.

A series of adequate Scottish films could be distributed throughout the country and the Empire, securing a most desirable focusing of attention. The experts may be trusted to plan and produce such films, but as the subject, is one that appeals to the popular imagination a few of the possible themes may be suggested. There is the Clyde, its scenery, its history, the industries and people that crowd upon its banks, the ships it builds and sends to the ends of the earth. There are the light-houses, the ruined abbeys and castles, the fishing ports. A picture called "The Scottish Year" might show the seasonal

LADIES' HOCKEY INTERPORT

Shanghai Team Announced

EXPECTED HERE ON FEB. 11

The Shanghai Ladies' Interport hockey team to play against the Hong Kong Ladies here next month is announced (by Reuter) as follows:—

Barbara Dunlop or Laura Caron (goalkeepers);

Frances Bomko and Evelyn Vical (full-backs);

Esther Bloomfield, Elsie Little and Pella Polikura (half-backs);

Jean McKeown, Lotti Schmidt, Mary Sheridan, Margery Williams and Debbie Bloomfield (forwards);

Nora Kelly (reserve).

Of the team announced, old Interporters are the Misses Esther Bloomfield, E. Vical, F. Bomko, E. Little and L. Caron.

The first three named visited Hong Kong in 1935 and played in the first Interport Ladies' hockey match. They represented Shanghai at the Canidrome in January last year when Elsie Little and L. Caron also played.

Miss Little appeared at left wing last year and it will be seen that this time she is in the pivotal position.

The Misses Bomko and Vical gave a dazzling display in their first appearance for Shanghai here two years ago, and both are exceptionally fine full backs. Miss Vical possesses a very powerful hit and is speedy.

Miss Caron played goalkeeper last year.

The forward line is completely strange to the Hong Kong defence, with the exception of Miss Sheridan, who led the Rest team against the Colony in Shanghai last year when Hong Kong won by five clear goals.

Miss Esther Bloomfield was captain of the team that visited Hong Kong in 1935.

Results of Interport matches played to date are as follows:—Feb. 5, 1935.—H. K. beat Shanghai 1-0, at Hong Kong. Jan. 25, 1936.—H. K. beat Shanghai 1-0, at Shanghai.

The team will leave Shanghai on February 9 aboard the C.P.S. liner Empress of Asia, and are due to arrive here on February 11.

RIGHT LIVERS AND HEROES

Admiral's Advice

Admiral Sir William Fisher, Commander-in-Chief, Portsmouth, presenting the awards at the annual prize-giving of the training ship, Mercury, last month, called upon the boys to be "right livers as well as heroes."

"You may think I am not an admiral, but a person," said Sir William, "but I have lived long enough to know that the coming together of men who are heroes as well as right livers is of enormous importance to-day."

"The secret of your future life and the prospects of your success depend on one very simple thing only. The boy who keeps alive the Mercury spirit all through will get to the top, for the Mercury has given you what a great many other boys do not get, would love to get, and would be proud to get."

SHENSI AGITATION TONED DOWN?

Rebel Leader's Temporary Truce With Nanking

Communists' Attitude Uncertain

Shanghai, January 18.

Having reached a modus vivendi with the Central authorities, General Yang Hu-cheng, the rebel leader, has permitted General Sun Wei-ju to accept the Nanking appointment as Chairman of the Shensi Provincial Government.

Yang's representative, Brig-General Mei Chun-lin flew to Fenghua, Chekiang province, to see Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek concerning the future of Shensi province. The terms of settlement will be submitted to the third plenary session of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee on February 15.

The sincerity of General Yang Hu-cheng is open to doubt, as Communist troops are pouring into Shensi from the outlying districts. Red flags and emblems are seen everywhere in Shensi, the provincial capital—Union News.

Following Nanking assurances that General Yang Hu-cheng will remain Pacification Commissioner of Shensi until final liquidation by the third plenary session of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee in Nanking on February 15, the rebel leader has toned down all agitation in Shensi, it was learned here this morning.

The most important problem for the Central Authorities to solve is how to deal with the Communist leaders now in Shensi. They have joined General Yang Hu-cheng for the avowed object of driving the Japanese and irregulars from Suiyuan and Chahar, but whether they insist on adhering to their Communist principles is unknown.

MR. WANG'S VISIT

Canton, Jan. 18.

Since the return of Mr. Wang Ching-wei, President of the Nanking Executive Yuan to Shanghai, all who are interested in the welfare of China are anxious to know what will be the result of his coming conference with the leaders of the Government in Nanking.

It is believed that the recent conference between Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at Fenghua is pregnant with prospects of a peaceful settlement of the Shensi and Kansu imbroglio, since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is determined not to use military force in chastising the rebels, in spite of General Yang Hu-cheng's reported understanding with the communist leaders Chu and Mo.

Perhaps it was due to a misunderstanding that the Central Government had decided to use primitive measures in dealing with General Yang Hu-cheng, and his rebellious associates, that led General Liu Shueung and Generals Li Tsung-jen and Pei Chung-hsi of Kwangsi Province to telegraph to the Central Government on the 15th instant advising leniency in dealing with the rebels.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

As proof of the Central Government's clemency and security, General Chen Cheng, Chief Military Adviser was ordered by the Government to fly and confer with General Yen Shih-shan of Shansi Province, immediately after the conference between Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

On the 18th instant General Chen Cheng telegraphed to Generals Lo Cheuk-ying and Yu Han-mow in Canton informing them of the favourable result of his remonstrations with Generals Yang Hu-cheng, Yu Hsueh-chung and others, and their assurance of submission to the Central Government.

A peaceful solution of the troubles is therefore, assured, and General Chen Cheng will return to Hankow as soon as a settlement has been announced.

PEACE IN SIGHT

Nanking, Jan. 18.

Following the meetings between Mei Chun-lin and Li Chi-kong and others, and the return of Mei Chun-lin to Nanking on the 18th instant, to report the result of his interviews with Generals Yang Hu-cheng and Yu Hsueh-chung, it is reported that the prospect of peaceful settlement of the Shensi situation is near at hand.

Yesterday, Mei Chun-lin and others left Fenghua to confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, and it is anticipated that this meeting will result in the solution of the Shensi and Kansu troubles.

SHENSI TRUCE AT END

AUTONOMOUS AREA

Shanghai, Jan. 18. Legalisation of the outlawed Chinese Red army and creation of a virtually autonomous area in Shensi and Kansu are demanded by the Shensi recalcitrants according to the "Evening Post" which says delegates from Shensi are at present on the way to Fenghua to lay the demands before General Chiang Kai-shek. The delegates included Generals Mi Chun-lin and Pao Wen-yueh and Messrs. Li Chun-kan and Tung Ying-pin who arrived in Nanking by air on January 16 and left for Hangchow by motor yesterday.

FOUR DEMANDS

According to the "Post," they demand:

1. That Chinese Communists be given garrison duties in Shensi and Kansu;
 2. That Chang Hsueh-liang be appointed Pacification Commissioner of Shensi and Kansu with absolute control of military affairs in the two provinces;
 3. That the troops of Chang Hsueh-liang and Yang Hu-cheng be responsible solely to their commanding officers who have the right to appoint and dismiss subordinates;
 4. Nanking to supply military equipment and expenses regularly.
- The "Post" adds that the armistice was agreed upon merely to enable these demands to be discussed and foreboding that they will not be accepted. Hence the Shensi trouble is far from solution.

HIGH TRADITIONS OF JOURNALISM

Mr. Baldwin's Tribute To Sir R. Bruce

Sir Robert Bruce was the guest of honour at a complimentary dinner in Glasgow recently, on his retirement after 20 years as editor of the "Glasgow Herald," 38 years in the service of Messrs. George Outram and Company, and 50 years in active journalism.

In a message to the gathering Mr. Baldwin wrote: "My friendship with Sir Robert was inherited from Mr. Bonar Law, and I have always regarded him as the embodiment of the highest principles and traditions of British journalism at its best."

Other tributes included one from Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, who said: "Sir Robert Bruce has been one of the great editors of our time, a good Scotsman, and a good citizen."

Sir Robert Bruce, acknowledging gifts from the staff, said it had been a long race and grueling at times, but it had been worth while to go through all the vicissitudes, "so much worth while, and if I were given the chance to begin again, I would unhesitatingly choose the same profession."

Describing journalism as a democracy, in which there was no place for an aloof dictator, Sir Robert said: "The primary purpose of a newspaper is to provide news. We have aimed at giving true news that is unexaggerated; new news free from any propagandist twistings."

"It has been my aim to keep our columns clean. The garbage of the gutter should be left to the cleaning authorities, not laid out for sale; nor should it be the business of a newspaper to invade the privacy of life. We have not pandered to morbid curiosity."

JEWS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Influx Causes Anxiety

Capetown, Jan. 18.

General Hertzog, speaking on the Aliens Bill debate in the Assembly, said that the number of Jews in South Africa has reached a figure which has begun to cause anxiety.

This has given rise to a strong form of anti-Jewish feeling, arousing fear that if the influx is unchecked it might lead to bloodshed.

General Hertzog pointed out that the proposed protective measures, while effective, would not bear the mark of persecution.

VOLUNTEER PROBLEM STILL REMAINS UNSOLVED

FRANCE STRESSES NEED FOR CONTROL SYSTEM

SOVIET RUSSIA DECLINES LONE ACTION

London, January 18.
Replies to the British proposal of January 9 for ban of volunteers to Spain have been made by the Soviet and French Governments. The Soviet Government accept the British proposal in principle and are prepared to take measures simultaneously with other powers. The suggestion that Russia should follow Britain's example by herself imposing an immediate ban without waiting for similar action by all powers concerned is rejected.

The French Government in a note dated January 13 states that they are in agreement with His Majesty's Government that measures for banning volunteers should be applied without waiting for establishment of a complete system of control relating to the despatch of war material to Spain, but the note adds that after the experiments already made it is only too clear that in the absence of such a system these measures of restriction run the risk of being ineffective and in these circumstances it is only provisionally that their application can be considered.

If therefore after a reasonable lapse of time from the application of restrictive measures the impossibility of putting an effective plan of control into effect becomes apparent, the French Government reserve entire liberty of action. The Italian and German replies are still awaited.—British Wireless.

FRENCH REPLY

The French reply to the British note, which proposed the banning of volunteers for Spain, was issued by the Foreign Office to-night. It states that France agrees with Great Britain with regard to the need for banning volunteers without waiting for a complete system of control of war materials and men sent to Spain.

However, the French note adds that if, at the expiration of a reasonable period, the ban is shown to be impracticable, then France reserves full liberty of action either in denouncing the engagements contracted or organising international co-operation to make control effective.—Reuter.

RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE

Moscow, Jan. 17.
The Soviet reply to the British note of January 9 regarding the banning of volunteers to Spain, urges that as the insurgents had not agreed in principle to the proposals of scheme of control, those powers wishing to share in any control plan should undertake to act immediately.

It is suggested that the period necessary for the establishment of control be ten days. Russia's note points out harm would be done to the Spanish Government if a control agreement were unilateral. It adds that the Soviet Government, though not sending volunteers to Spain, would regard such a unilateral agreement as ineffectual.—Reuter.

PROPOSALS REJECTED

Moscow, Jan. 17.
The recent British proposals regarding the question of foreign volunteers in the Spanish Civil War have now been answered by Soviet Russia in a Note dated January 15, and handed to the British Ambassador in Moscow, Lord Chilton, and published today.

The Note states that in principle the Soviet Government is in favour of the control plan, but a number of reservations are made, which are tantamount to a rejection of the British proposals. The Soviet Government is of the opinion that under the circumstances prohibitive measures would mean a one-sided intervention in favour of the Burgos Government, and points out that the powers which are supporting the Franco Government have hitherto not given a clear unconditional assent to the British proposals. After setting forth these main objections, the Note concludes by rejecting the British proposals, thus leaving Soviet Russia a free hand regarding the Spanish question.—Transocean News Service.

MALAGA FALL IMMINENT

Steady Advance By Nationalists

Salamanca, Jan. 17.
The Nationalist offensive on the southern front is going steadily forward, and the fall of the city of Malaga appears to be imminent. The city was attacked again today, two Nationalist cruisers, the "Almirante Cervera" and the "Canarias" participating. General Queipo de Llano, who is directing the operations on this front, followed the movements of the troops from the cruiser "Canarias."

Nationalist fliers also took part in the operations, and it is reported that two attempts on part of the Reds to dynamite the bridge, and thus hinder the Nationalists advance, were frustrated by the aviators, who flew low and peppered the squads with machine guns. It is reported that the losses of the militia are extremely high, and it is estimated that over 2000 have been killed and over 500 wounded.

CLOSING IN ON MADRID

The front is gradually closing in on Madrid, and according to a military bulletin issued yesterday, the western section is now uninterrupted from Villa Nevada del Pardillo to Las Rozas. The air bombardments of the city are increasing in violence, and many of the principal streets are now dotted with shell holes, and the underground railway track has even been torn up.

The aerial bombardment of Alcantara has resulted in the destruction of an armoured munitions train and the sinking of a ship in the harbour.

It is announced that Nationalist cruisers in the Straits of Gibraltar succeeded in capturing three Soviet Russian steamers and forced them to put into Ceuta harbour. Only one has been allowed to sail again.

In his evening radio report, General Queipo de Llano stated that Red petroleum tankers, carrying cargo worth 18 million pesetas, had been captured by two Nationalist cruisers.—Transocean News Service.

SPANISH GOLD SENT ABROAD

M. Blum's Attitude Criticised

Paris, Jan. 18.
That the International Non-Intervention Committee in London will, during its present session, discuss among other things also the question of the gold funds transferred abroad by the Red Government in Spain, is considered extremely likely by the "Le Jour," which is of the opinion that the investigation in this problem would prove rather embarrassing to the French Government.

The paper asserts that a number of prominent French politicians have repeatedly warned Premier Blum that the Premier's attitude in this question is extremely dangerous. The officials of the Foreign Ministry and the Ministry of Finance, the paper asserts, when consulted, unanimously agreed that the Bank of France should refuse to continue transactions for the account of the Red Spanish Government.

The Premier is, however, stated to have refused to listen to this advice, and has, according to the "Le Jour," replied that "the Red authorities in Valencia should not be deprived of the means to enable them to finance their propaganda campaign abroad."

"Le Jour" however considers it extremely doubtful whether the Premier will be able to maintain his present attitude towards the problem if the British Government should adopt the German and Italian point of view that the Red Spanish Government is not permitted to use the gold funds illegally transferred out of the country.

The paper points out that steps of the French Government to this effect would be an extremely prudent policy, as in the event of General Franco's victory the return of these gold funds would be a great step forward in improving the relations between this Government and the French Government.—Transocean News Service.

GERMAN-ITALIAN FRIENDSHIP

Mussolini's Formula For Peace

Rome, Jan. 17.
The wedding of ties between Germany and Italy marks the beginning of the process of consolidation in Europe, stated Signor Mussolini in an interview granted to the foreign correspondent of the National Socialist Organ "Voelkischer Beobachter."

Asked whether he believed that this consolidation process would eventually lead to the creation of a United States of Europe, Signor Mussolini replied in the negative, stating that such a development would represent a Utopia which is impossible from historical, geographical and political points of view.

Turning to the Anglo-Italian Mediterranean agreement and its possible effect on the Berlin-Rome Agreement, Signor Mussolini declared that contrary to any weakening effect, the agreement served to strengthen the Berlin-Rome axis. Signor Mussolini pointed out that "the agreement relieved the growing tension, and gave us several years in which to continue a peaceful development, in which time the work of securing a lasting peace will also progress. It is the logical outcome of Italy's endeavours, the Berlin-Rome agreement being another important step in this direction.—Transocean News Service.

PARLIAMENT FACES HEAVY PROGRAMME

London, Jan. 18.
Parliament reassembles to-morrow to face a heavy programme of work which includes in addition to the legislation adumbrated in the King's Speech certain other measures which were not then foreseen. These include the Civil List Bill, making financial provision for the Royal Family which is always undertaken at the beginning of a new reign, and the Special Areas Bill to widen the powers of the Commissioner and provide for state inducements to new industries to establish themselves in the depressed areas.

In the Commons to-morrow it is anticipated that the Dominions Secretary, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, will make a statement in reply to a question upon his conversations last week with the President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State.—British Wireless.

POLISH PEASANTS IN CONFERENCE

Warsaw, Jan. 18.
A special congress of the Peasants' People Party, which was formerly led by Wilkos and is the greatest agrarian political organisation of the country, was held here, and attended by about 600 deputies from all over the country.

Resolutions were passed, in which the party demands increase of the defence forces, amnesty for political emigrants and reform of the electoral laws. The party warns that if the present situation persists, the party could no longer take over the responsibility to keep the peasant masses under control.

The party furthermore demands a dissolution of the "Bereza Kartuska" concentration camp, and rejects the endeavours of certain circles to split Poland into a Communist and a Fascist Camp as well as the formation of a Popular Front.—Transocean News Service.

MOTOR INDUSTRY STRIKE

Workers Refuse To Vacate Factories

Flint, Jan. 18.
The "sit-down" strikers who are occupying the Fisher automobile body-building plants here, have voted not to evacuate the factories. They claim that the General Motors Corporation has negotiated for settlement with the so-called "Flint alliance" organised by non-union strikers, in order to crystallize sentiment against the strike and cause trouble.

It appears to be the one big point of Mr. John Henry Lewis, labour leader, that the Union of Automobile Workers should be recognised as the sole bargaining agency for labour by all the General Motors workers.—Reuter.

The Proven STOMACH REMEDY for Bad Cases

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pains can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of "Bisurated" Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia in a little water produced complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Its Action Explained—
Simply take a teaspoonful of this powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the tortured stomach it begins to soothe the sour, fermenting undigested food. The contents of the stomach become as bland and soothing as milk to the sensitive stomach lining. The pain quickly lessens and presently disappears. By following up the treatment after each meal, your harassed stomach will soon lose its bitterness and grow strong, until you can eat whatever you like and enjoy every meal, without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED ENGLISH DOCTOR SAYS:

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

H.C. — M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.
ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS:
"'Bisurated' Magnesia gives excellent results and is the ideal remedy for stomach pains and acidity. It is particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Stomach Pains, Flatulence, and even Stomach Ulcers."

PRIMATE'S CALL TO THE NATION

Coronation Year Should Mark A New Return To God

OLD MORALITY STANDARDS SLACKENING

The Archbishop of Canterbury broadcast recently a "recall to religion."

It is the last Sunday of the year (said the Archbishop). An old year is going and a new year is coming. We stand at a stage in the journey of personal and national life when we do well to stop and think, to ask "Whither are we moving?"

In our national history the year that is going can never be forgotten. But its most recent and vivid memories had better now be kept in silence. Let us turn from the past to the future and look upon all that has happened as a call to re-establish, to re-settle the foundations of our national life.

At this time I am moved to make a somewhat special and solemn appeal to my fellow-countrymen. I make it not primarily as the chief officer of the Church of England but rather, if I may presume to say so, as a representative of the Christian life of the nation.

It is a "recall to religion." It is a summons to re-found our life, personal and national, on the fear of God, on the revelation of Himself, of His will and purpose for the human race in Jesus Christ, on the standards of human conduct which Jesus Christ has set.

Surely this is the foundation on which all that has been best and noblest in the life of our nation in this land and across the seas has been built. I ask, are we losing or fastening our hold on this foundation?

There can be no doubt as to the need of such a recall to the Christian religion. I have no time to speak of the present place of that religion in other countries. Suffice it to say this. We know too well that in Russia a vast community is being poisoned by an aggressive atheism and by a doctrine of class warfare, which is anti-Christian, and we must be vigilant to prevent the poison infecting our own people.

In other countries the menace is less open, but more insidious. There, even in the name of religion, the idols of race and State are usurping the supremacy of Christ.

THE DRIFT AWAY FROM RELIGION

But let us keep to our own nation. Here I note three facts. First, there is beyond question a drift away from religion. It is natural, almost inevitable.

Consider the all-pervading influence of a secular civilisation so complete, so rich in the resources of science that it seems to be all-sufficing.

Consider the influence of the new scientific outlook on the universe and on man's life within it, which seems to see no place for a personal God or for the inherent worth of the human soul.

Consider, perhaps most of all, the ever-increasing haste and hurry and distraction of modern life. God is not so much denied as merely crowded out. Just as when Christ came on the first Christmas Day there was no room for Him in the inn, so now there is no room for Him in the noise and bustle of the hostelry of modern life.

LOOSER MORALS

Moreover, all this brings a slackening, sometimes even a scorning, of the old standards of Christian morality. We see it, for example, in the loosening of the impulses of sex. Well may we ask—Whither is this drift carrying us? It may carry us to judgment.

How often brilliant gifts fail to bear their fruit unless they have their roots in religious faith and moral principle. So the manifold gifts which God has bestowed upon our nation and Empire—such as the great gifts of order and freedom—will fail to fulfil their purpose unless they are deep-rooted in the faith and fear of God.

Give heed to the words spoken of old to the people of Israel—"If thou do at all forget the Lord thy God... I testify against you that ye shall surely perish." Stern words, but in an age of softness and indecisiveness stern words are needed.

WIDESPREAD INTEREST IN RELIGION

Yet, secondly, there is, I am convinced, an instinct of religion and of sound morality in the common heart. It persists in the subconscious life of our people. From time to time it emerges manifestly and movingly. But it is vague. It lacks the warmth of faith and the strength of conviction, and so it has little hold on the mind or power over the will.

Thirdly, with this instinct, indeed as an evidence of it, is an interest in religion—critical, impatient, yet sincere and perhaps more widespread than ever before. An interest, yes; and even among those who are detached from any definite belief a longing for what religion alone can give. The eye is not satisfied with seeing nor the ear with hearing. There are deep ineradicable needs of human nature which nothing material can supply. The old truths abide—the human spirit is restless until it finds its rest in God.

What is needed then is a new, deliberate, and sustained endeavour to arrest the drift, to arouse and strengthen the instinct, to satisfy the longing. This is what I mean by "A recall to religion."

A CORONATION APPEAL

Could there be a more timely occasion for such a recall than the coming Coronation year? Within five months, please God, our King will be consecrated to his high office and invested with it as a sacred trust from the Most High God by the solemn and sacramental rites which have been preserved for a thousand years.

But let him not come alone to his hallowing. As the representative of the nation he must bear his people with him. The august ceremony will be bereft of its full meaning, it will be a mere splendid spectacle, unless the nation, with and through its King, consecrates itself to the remembrance and service of God.

I would fain hope that the leaders of religion, to whatever denomination they may belong and in whatever ways they may think best, may prepare the people for their share in the great event. Would God that it might mark not only the beginning of a new return of the nation to God, a new loyalty as to the King so also, and above all, to the King of Kings. During these coming months in the midst of all the writing and talking about the Coronation may another voice be heard, saying to us all: "O, my people, return unto the Lord your God."

A PERSONAL CALL

In what I have been saying so imperfectly I have not been merely speaking in the air. I have been thinking of the men and women who are listening to my words now or who may read them afterwards. Let me in the simplest way try to bring my appeal closer home to you.

Some of you, I dare say, are holding very loosely to the ways or forms of religion. Yet you have at heart some belief in God, some reverence for Christ, some respect for the Christian faith. Otherwise I think you would not care to listen to or to read my words. Will you not turn these vague feelings into some definite acts of acknowledgment of God? A daily prayer, for example—no matter how short or simple if it be sincere—an act of "worship in God's house on God's day. Such acts as these would be links, however small, in the chain which still binds your country to its true anchorage in God.

All of you, and especially any to whom some measure of wealth or position brings the responsibility of influence and example, I ask to think seriously whether present tendencies of morality are carrying our national life, and to return to the old Christian standards.

Pleasures you must have. God knows how needful they are as means of escape from the strain of life or the monotony of work. See that they are wholesome, that the wine leaves no bitter dregs. Help to keep the whole tone of our common life healthy and clean and sound.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CHURCHES

Most of you, I expect, are professing Christians—members of some Christian Communion. To you I must make a very special plea. For the cause of recalling the nation to the Christian faith and way of life cannot be left to the ministers of religion. It must be the concern of all who profess and call themselves Christians.

Yet to be a Christian is not to make a profession, however sincerely; it is to accept a vocation. It means being called to give the witness of life to a living Lord. Men will not be constrained to believe that this Christ is a present power if the lives of these who profess to be His disciples differ little, save in the observance of some religious customs, from the lives of others who make no such profession.

On the other hand, lives which have been or are being visibly changed by His spirit will give the best witness of His power to change human nature alike in nations and in men. And if our lives are to be thus changed, then you and I must be whole-hearted in our surrender of them to His way.

A Church shining with this sort of witness would be seen to be in truth the body of Christ in and through which He shows His compassion for the multitude, for their bodies as well as their souls, the mingled severity and mercy of His moral judgment; His power to redeem and enrich all human life. The witness of such a Church would surely recall the nation to religion.

Well, I have made my plea. Would God I had made it better. I ask my fellow-countrymen to set themselves, during their coming year to recover the hold of the nation on the foundation of true religion. We cannot tell what changes and chances the year may bring.

But remember what Christ Himself said about building on this foundation: "The rain descended and the floods came and the winds blew and beat upon that house, and it fell not, for it was founded upon a rock." On this Rock let the Commonwealth be built. Then it shall be known that "Blessed are the people who have the Lord for their God."

ANGLO-IRISH TRADE AGREEMENT

London, Jan. 17.
The new Anglo-Irish Trade Agreement, whereby England reduces the customs duty on Irish cattle and horses, and the Irish Free State in its turn decreases the duties on English manufactured goods, will be the result, according to the "Sunday Despatch," of the recent conversations between the Dominions Minister, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald and the Irish Premier, Mr. de Valera.

A fundamental agreement was attained on the principle questions, according to the "Despatch" Dublin correspondent, the only obstacle being the question of "United Ireland."

MINING OUTPUT

The Raub Australian Gold Mining Company, Limited inform us that their output for the four weeks ended January 2, 1937, amounted to 2055.72 ounces.

Mr. De Valera, so the paper states, still maintains the demand for unification of Northern Ireland with the Irish Free State, although the constitutional form of the proposed union is not yet defined in detail. This demand is likely, in any case, to be the main difficulty in the way of an agreement to be reached between the Irish Free State and England.

AUSTRALIA AND JAPAN

Quota And Lower Duties

The "trade war" between Australia and Japan is now ended and on terms which affect Lancashire closely. In place of the high duties imposed last May on Japanese goods Australian imports from Japan are to be subject to a quota and the rates of duty are to be lowered by a half. The new agreement provides that imports of cotton piece goods shall not exceed 51,250,000 square yards a year and that the same limit shall apply to rayon piece goods. In addition a quota of 17,500,000 square yards is allotted to calico used for bagging. This total permitted import of 120,000,000 square yards compares with 133,000,000 square yards last year. Had there been no interference with the trade this year through the high duties the import might conceivably have reached 200,000,000 square yards.

Lancashire traders will naturally welcome the quantitative limitation, especially in its effect on cotton piece goods, although they will be disappointed with the reduction of the tariff. If they are wise they will recognise frankly that they benefited last May from the accident that Australia was then engaged in an economic quarrel with Japan. She put on higher duties that were not intended to be permanent in the hope of bringing Japan to terms on wool. Although Australian statesmen did not say so at the time, they were not putting on these duties for the sake of Lancashire's blue eyes. It may be contended that the high protection was no more than was Lancashire's due, but that was not the view of a pretty large section of Australian opinion, and the Government has had much criticism to meet.

Even now it must be recognised that the level of duties against Japan is still high. As Japanese values run, the duty on grey cloth will be something like 82 per cent, on rayons 66 per cent. Moreover, it is worth remembering that in most cases where Japan has been subjected to a quota it has been found that her price competition becomes less strong; her competition, as Mr. Forest Hewitt points out in his comment on the agreement, becomes less abnormal.

It is to be hoped that there will be no rash protests from the Lancashire trade. A little consideration will show that the terms enjoyed after the new agreement will be much better than what seemed possible twelve months ago. Indeed, had Japan settled on the terms that were talked of in the spring Lancashire would probably now be worse off. And the combination of interests in favour of a settlement with Japan on wool was so strong—it included not only the Labour party but many of the Australian Government's own supporters—that there was really no political alternative but a compromise agreement. The first messages do not make it clear whether the Australian quota, like the Indian, is divided into categories, although this may perhaps be assumed from the differential duties. It is in every respect desirable that it should be to prevent the disorganisation of the market by Japanese concentration on particular classes of goods.

JAPANESE SPINNING TRADE

Although, as has been mentioned once or twice recently in these notes, there is some anxiety in Japanese cotton-trade quarters as a result of the check to the expansion of exports, it is apparent that the position has some redeeming features. This is indicated, for one thing, by the recent decision to reduce the rate of spinning-mill curtailment from 25.2 per cent—the level at which it has been maintained since November, 1935—to 25 per cent for the first quarter of next year. The decision was reached after a good deal of argument between the spinners, who wished the higher rate to continue, and the manufacturers, who claimed that there should be a reduction to 21.2 per cent in view of the shortage of supplies that was developing. The manufacturers' view was that pressure on prices had been relieved as a result of the Japan Cotton Spinners' Association's success in obtaining as members some firms which had previously been outside it and had made a practice of underselling the organised spinners; that, in spite of the alleged sluggishness of export trade, total sales of cotton goods were still at
